

Table with multiple columns and rows, featuring a grid structure. The top section has a header row with various labels. The main body consists of numerous rows, with several columns highlighted in green and others in yellow. The table appears to be a detailed data sheet or ledger.

Small text block below the main table, possibly a legend or key, containing several lines of text and small colored boxes.

Legend table with two columns: a list of items and corresponding color-coded boxes. The items are listed in a vertical column, and the colors are shown in small boxes next to them.

